

Conclusion

BraceForce meets the criteria identified by our user group and questionnaire, ensuring it is:

- Convenient: the bracelet can be carried easily without hindering the use of other everyday items like phones.
- Reliable: able to withstand force and stress to an extent while providing a tangible sense of security.
- Adjustable: catering to a wide range of users and their wrist sizes/preferences.
- Safe: The bracelet has mechanisms that allow for rapid deployment in emergencies.

Our bracelet's current design will also require further improvements in materials and aesthetics to better suit the preferences of our diverse user group. This ensures that the bracelet will not only serve as a self-defense tool but also as a stylish, everyday accessory that empowers users to move confidently in their daily lives. We hope that, with our self-defense bracelet, users will feel more confident navigating public spaces, knowing that they have a reliable tool to protect themselves and that their safety is at the forefront of our design.